Reference for: Robbie McCorkell – Software Development Intern

Sunday, 9 September 2012

Robbie successfully completed an internship with Decibel from July to September 2012

Robbie a tremendously dedicated individual, with an unparalleled level of dedication and commitment to his goals and our organisational objectives.

A very hard worker, a good motivator, and lateral thinker, he has been a hugely valuable member of our team and a big asset to our business.

Over the last few months, he has performed his duties as a Software Developer admirably with output that has consistently exceeded our expectations.

He has a keen business sense, an easy and focused manner, and an intricate understanding of the functioning of our business technologies that belies his age and experience.

He has constantly demonstrated a strong work ethic, and a high level of organisation, innovation and communication which has been instrumental in him delivering excellent technology tools and artificial intelligence software

He would be a perfect hire for a technology or consultancy business looking for a smart, dedicated and engaging graduate to join their team, and is someone we may have our eye on for a permanent role with us in the future. We really enjoyed his company and he will be missed.

Should you have any questions on his skills and abilities, I would be happy to receive a phone call on my personal line: +44 (0)7939 141 002

Kind Regards
